Rs. 595-crore Hale Unduwadi Drinking Water Project, the long-term solution for Mysuru's water needs, hit by a...

14-acre land hurdle

Mysuru, June 10 (BLU&BCT)- The Rs. 595-crore Hale Unduwadi Drinking Water Project, envisaged as a long-term solution to meet Mysuru's drinking water needs, has hit a roadblock as the State Government is yet to acquire 14 acres of private land for key project components.

Launched in June 2021 and being implemented by Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board (KUWS&DB), the project aims to draw Cauvery water from KRS Dam and supply it to Mysuru city, Greater Mysuru areas, 300 villages in and around Mysuru, including those in Chamundeshwari Assembly Constituency and 277 villages in Hunsur Assembly segment.

When the project was proposed in 2020, its estimated cost was Rs. 350 crore. The project cost has since been revised to Rs. 595 crore.

According to sources, the project requires 14 acres of privately owned land at Chikkanahalli and Avarehalli on the Mysuru-Mandya border.

The land is needed for laying new pipelines, a 12-km 66 KV express feeder line, a 2-km raw water rising main and a 2-km purified water rising main to facilitate the supply of 150 million litres per day (MLD) of water.

Sources told Star of Mysore that while the Government has informed landowners that their properties are required for the project, compensation has not yet been released for acquisition.

"Layouts have already been formed on portions of the land. The owners are demanding compensation, but the State Government is yet to release funds to the Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) for acquisition. As a result, the project remains in limbo," sources said.

Officials said the project has been designed to initially supply 150 MLD of water, with the capacity to provide up to 300 MLD upon full completion. The project agreement was signed on March 8, 2021.

"The civil works are nearing completion. Once the 14 acres of land are acquired and handed over, the remaining works can be completed," the source said.

The Hale Unduwadi project was conceived to enable water extraction from the KRS reservoir even when water levels fall below the dead storage level of 68 to 70 feet. It is expected to meet Mysuru's projected drinking water requirements until 2081 and ensure a reliable daily supply of Cauvery water.

In all, 123.7 acres have been earmarked for the project, including 55.06 acres in Mandya and 67.11 acres in Mysuru.

Land crunch stalls startup growth in Mysuru: MP

'Land allocation delays, red tape in KIADB hindering expansion of industrial ecosystem'

Mysuru, June 10 (BLU&BCT)- Many startups planning to establish operations in Mysuru are struggling due to a severe shortage of land, with the State Government yet to allocate required industrial sites, said Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar.

Addressing a press conference at the BJP Office in city this morning, he highlighted the achievements of the Narendra Modi-led Government at the Centre over the past 12 years.

At the same time, he flagged local bottlenecks, particularly the lack of land allocation for startups by Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB).

Stating that India has emerged as a global hub of innovation, attracting both startups and major industries, he said Mysuru continues to face hurdles due to the non-availability of land.

"If land is provided, startups will flourish here and larger industries will follow. CM D.K. Shivakumar should respond positively in this regard," he urged.

He noted that Karnataka has been claiming to promote technology cluster development in Tier-2 cities such as Mysuru, Hubballi, Mangaluru and Belagavi, where commercial space is relatively more affordable. However, he said startups on the ground were not receiving land allocations.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

WHEN SILENCE BECOMES KNOWLEDGE:

Is silence an absence of spoken words? Is it not much more than that, an absence of even thoughts that arise and clutter our minds? But then how can that 'mind' not produce thoughts? Thoughts are involuntarily produced, but silence, then, is to watch those thoughts and see them vanish away, where we do not associate with them either as spoken words or in actions. Then, can silence be knowledge?

Lord Dakshinamurthy is the embodiment of knowledge and an epitome of silence. He taught, only through silence, to older sages who were his disciples who had accepted him as their guru. Their ignorance was washed away when they gained the true knowledge, but all was facilitated in silence.

Adi Guru Sri Shankaracharya, in his composition Dakshinamurthy Ashtakam, has alluded to 'instructions through silence' as a concise form of teaching the underlying aspects of Vedanta implied in the shlokas.

In the last century, Bhagwan Ramana Maharshi's dictum centred around Chumma Irru (just be), wherein His disciples learnt the most in His presence marked by silence where all their sought questions vanished or dissolved to a naught to get them closer to the Truth — the Atma Swaroopa that is in all and around.

Even in this empirical world, do we not long for silence to sleep well after a tiring day? Do we not ask our young (grand)children to play outside so we can sit in silence and reflect deeply? Do we not hush those around us when an important discussion is underway?

Why is 'silence' so revered, more so on the spiritual path? Silence is the starting point before any words are spoken and we need to realise that origin. In the quietness of the mind sans any chatter, what is revealed is considered beyond the mind but exists always. That existence, which shines bright to reveal everything in its path, including body-mind-intelligence, is knowledge — the ultimate truth. The Self, which is truth itself, says our Upanishads, is beyond speech.

Quotes are varying expressions of words like Rumi's 'Silence is the language of God; it speaks to the soul' or Lao Tzu's 'Silence is a source of great strength,' but silence as knowledge is the very origin before any thoughts, words and actions arise. The ultimate is that silence is knowledge.— Prasanna S. Harihar in Deccan Herald

Kingpin caught with 1,00,000 illegal insects

Wellington: More than 1,00,000 live cockroaches illegal to keep in Australia were confiscated from a single breeder in the country's largest-ever seizure of exotic invertebrates, officials said.

The haul of Madagascar hissing cockroaches and dubia cockroaches, worth 2,00,000 Australian dollars ($142,000), was seized from a commercial breeder in the city of Bathurst in New South Wales state, according to Australia's Department of Climate Change, Energy, Environment and Water.

The Madagascar hissing species is one of the world's biggest cockroaches, measuring 2 to 3 inches in length. Photos released by the department showed a shiny, brown invertebrate larger than a person's finger.

Bathurst snake catcher Stefanie Lesser said that the exotic species were being sold as as a reptile food because their large size meant fewer insects were needed. Officials urged pet owners feed crickets or wood roaches to their lizards instead.

Pigeons may be navigating with their liver

New York: Pigeons are a well-known group of frequent flyers that can traverse hundreds of kilometres in a single day. For years, humans have used them to carry messages. Scientists have long tried to untangle how pigeons travel without getting lost.

In a new study, Wikelski and other researchers decided to draw back the curtain on pigeons' navigational secrets. They searched for magnetic clues in the birds' organs and found a strong signal in an unexpected place: the liver.

Specialised immune cells in the liver break down red blood cells and store iron. When scientists temporarily stripped pigeons of those immune cells and let them fly, the birds "just couldn't find their way," said Christian Kurts with the University of Bonn in Germany.

Plug this water leak at Dattagalli

Sir,

I wish to draw the attention of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) to the continuous wastage of drinking water due to damaged water supply pipelines at two locations on the Ring Road in Dattagalli, near Union Bank and near Maruti Steel Suppliers.

For the past two to three months, treated drinking water has been leaking from the damaged pipelines during the morning and evening supply hours. Thousands of litres of potable water are being wasted every day.

Residents have repeatedly attempted to bring the matter to the notice of the MCC and calls made to Vani Vilas Water Works office have gone unanswered. A resident also visited the office in person and lodged a complaint, but no action has been taken so far to repair the leaks.

To understand the extent of the wastage, I collected water from one of the leak points and was able to fill a one-litre bottle in less than 20 seconds. Based on this, it is estimated that around 750 litres of water may be wasted every day at that location alone, amounting to nearly 22,500 litres a month.

The leak near Maruti Steel Suppliers appears to be even more severe, with an estimated wastage of 30,000 to 40,000 litres per month.

Taken together, these two leaks could be resulting in the loss of nearly 60,000 to 70,000 litres of treated drinking water every month.

The actual quantity may be even higher, as it was difficult to collect all the water flowing from the damaged pipeline.

Unfortunately, such large-scale wastage has been allowed to continue for months despite repeated complaints. I request the MCC Commissioner to inspect the sites immediately and carry out the necessary repairs without further delay.

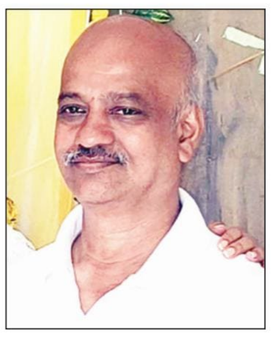
Man ends life after strangulating wife, son to death in Mandya



Prabhakar

Jyothi

Santosh

Mandya, June 10 (KS)- A man, unable to bear harassment from the representatives of private finance companies and his garments store suffering loss due to 'Shakti' scheme of the State Government, allegedly strangled his wife and newlywed son at his house before ending his life at the garments store in the town in the wee hours of yesterday.

The deceased have been identified as Prabhakar (65), his wife Jyothi (55) and son Santosh (30), all residents of Nehru Nagar in the town. Prabhakar has left a death note behind and his daughter-in-law was in the house when the incident took place.

Yesterday around 5 am, Prabhakar allegedly strangled his wife Jyothi with a dhoti and when Santosh tried to prevent his father, Prabhakar also strangled him to death. Prabhakar later went to his garments store near the house and hanged self to death. The incident came to light when Prabhakar's daughter-in-law went to wake up her husband and mother-in-law only to find them dead.

In his death note, Prabhakar has stated that he had killed his wife and son following debts besides mentioning that he had suffered losses in the garments business due to the 'Shakti' free bus travel scheme as women, utilising the scheme, were travelling to other places for free and were purchasing clothes resulting in his business coming down drastically.

As the business had come down, Prabhakar was unable to repay the loans he had taken and representatives of the private finance companies threatening to knock on his door if he did not repay.

Mandya Superintendent of Police (SP) Dr. V.J. Shobha Rani, who conducted an inspection, said that a death note was found in the house which stated about the housing loan and he facing problems to pay the EMI due to loss in the business as customers were going to other places to purchase garments by utilising the free bus travel scheme 'Shakti' rolled out by the State Government.

The SP further said that as per the information got at the spot, Prabhakar first killed his wife and then his son. He later went to his garments store and ended his life. More information and the exact cause of deaths would be known only after receiving the post-mortem reports, the SP added.

Meanwhile, deceased Santosh's wife told the Police during preliminary enquiry that she was given in marriage to Santosh on Apr. 26 and was staying in the same house along with Prabhakar and Jyothi. She further said that on Monday at about 12 midnight, everybody had dinner and retired to their respective rooms. She woke up at about 6.30 am yesterday, freshened up, prepared breakfast and went to wake up her mother-in-law, only to see her husband and his mother dead.

She told that Police that she did not know when her husband woke up and went to his parents' room besides stating that they were leading a peaceful life and there were no issues between any of them, the SP informed.

Post-mortem was performed and the bodies were handed over to the family members, the SP said and added that Mandya East Police have registered a case and are investigating.

Intl. Level Crossing Awareness Day observed in Mysuru Division

Mysuru, June 10 (KS)- South Western Railway (SWR), Mysuru Division, observed International Level Crossing Awareness Day (ILCAD) - 2026 yesterday in accordance with the directives of the Railway Board.

The observance aimed to create awareness among road users about safe practices at level crossings and to prevent accidents caused by negligence and unsafe crossing habits.

As part of the campaign, an awareness programme was held at Level Crossing Gate No. 04 between Mysuru and Ashokapuram Railway Stations, which was led by Divisional Railway Manager (DRM) Mudit Mittal, along with Additional Divisional Railway Manager Shammas Hameed and other senior officers.

Addressing the gathering, the DRM emphasised that safety at Level Crossings is a shared responsibility and urged road users to exercise caution and strictly follow safety regulations while approaching and crossing railway level crossings.

He highlighted that people should always stop, look and listen before crossing, never attempt to cross when the gate is closed or warning signals are operating, avoid rushing through the crossing, refrain from using mobile phones or other distractions, follow the instructions of gatekeepers and Railway staff and use only authorised level crossings instead of trespassing across railway tracks.

The awareness campaign featured distribution of safety pamphlets, interactive sessions with road users and live demonstrations on safe crossing practices.

A Nukkad Natak, performed by the Scouts and Guides team of South Western Railway, effectively conveyed important safety messages and encouraged responsible behaviour among the public.

Swachha Mysuru - Samartha Mysuru

Art out of waste...

Art works installed at public places; MCC's innovative measure to check waste menace in city

Mysuru, June 10 (MK&BS)- Under its newly founded 'Swachha Mysuru - Samartha Mysuru' initiative, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has come out with an innovative way to deal with the menace of waste.

Using wastes littered by residents at public places identified by Pourakarmikas and Health Inspectors in various Wards, MCC is creating art works out of used tyres, bottles and bamboo poles at the road side, electric poles, trees and other places, with the help of generous donors among locals and installing them at such places, with the only intention of changing the public mindset, by garnering their attention. Boards with messages to create awareness against disposing waste, are also being installed.

The innovative measure to check unabated throwing of the refuse at public spots, is eventually aimed at reclaiming the top spot in 'Swachh City' rankings in the country. The artistic measure is in fact yielding results at about 15 to 20 places identified in the city, including localities like Gokulam, Vijayanagar 3rd stage, Azeez Sait Double Road (Mahadevapura Main Road), Aravinda Nagar to name a few.

The feedback is good, with the public appreciating MCC, for some of the public refraining from throwing the waste again at the same spot.

Apart from cleaning the unkempt places, MCC is changing the visual look of the otherwise filthy spot, by creating a new ambience with colourfully painted tyres, flower pots and covering the place with green cloth supported by bamboo fence, as a temporary measure, to disseminate green-friendly message.

Mruthyunjaya, Executive Engineer (EE) of MCC Environment Division, told Star of Mysore: "As a continued initiative, MCC has installed CCTV cameras at 52 places to deter public from throwing waste. If the 'Watch and Ward' unit starts functioning in a full-fledged manner, effective measures can be further taken to curb unabated throwing of waste in public places."

Approximately, 550 tonnes of waste, including 300 tonnes of wet waste and 245 to 250 tonnes of dry waste, is collected across the city daily. Since January, fine is being imposed on those littering waste in public and Rs. 7.5 lakh fine amount has been collected so far.

As part of World Environment Day celebrations, a Garbage Vulnerable Point (GVP) was cleared at Vijayanagar 3rd Stage in city and wall painting was done, using waste and saplings were planted with the cooperation of locals. Environment Engineer, Health Inspectors, Supervisors, Pourakarmikas and locals were present.

Land crunch stalls startup growth in Mysuru: MP

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Wadiyar addressing a press meet at BJP Office in city this morning as other leaders look on.

"The policy states that startups in Karnataka can acquire land or commercial space through State industrial development agencies or private industrial parks. KIADB is the primary agency responsible for allocation. But unfortunately, KIADB is also the reason many startups are leaving Mysuru due to the non-availability of land," the MP alleged.

Centre has people's trust

Reflecting on the Modi government's 12-year tenure, Yaduveer said several longstanding issues had been addressed, including poverty reduction. "Over 25 crore people have come out of poverty, with the poverty rate dropping from 29 percent to 11 percent, according to international reports."

"Modi has become India's longest-serving elected Prime Minister, completing 12 consecutive years in office. This milestone reflects not just longevity, but the enduring trust of the people in stable, decisive and transformative leadership," he said.

Over the past 12 years, India has witnessed significant progress in infrastructure, digital governance, financial inclusion, women-led development, innovation and global outreach. He said India has also led the world in digital payments and emerged as a strong voice on the global stage.

On infrastructure and investment, he pointed to foreign direct investment in the semiconductor sector worth over Rs. 1 lakh crore and UNESCO's recognition of 44 heritage sites during the current regime. He also lauded the Swachh Bharat Mission, which he said has received appreciation from World Bank and IMF.

Mysuru City BJP President L. Nagendra, Mysuru Rural BJP President Kumbralli Subbanna, Krishnaraja MLA T.S. Srivatsa, former MLA B. Harshavardhan, State BJP Minority Morcha President Dr. Anil Thomas, State General Secretary of ST Morcha Shivakumar, City District General Secretaries B.M. Raghu, Rudramurthy, Parikshit Rajé Urs, Vinay Kumar Ramachandru, City BJP Spokesperson Mohan, Rural Spokesperson Vasanth Kumar, Co-spokespersons Kiran Gowda and Jayashekar, City Media Convenor Mahesh Rajé Urs and Co-Convenor B.M. Santosh Kumar were present.

Modi surpasses Nehru

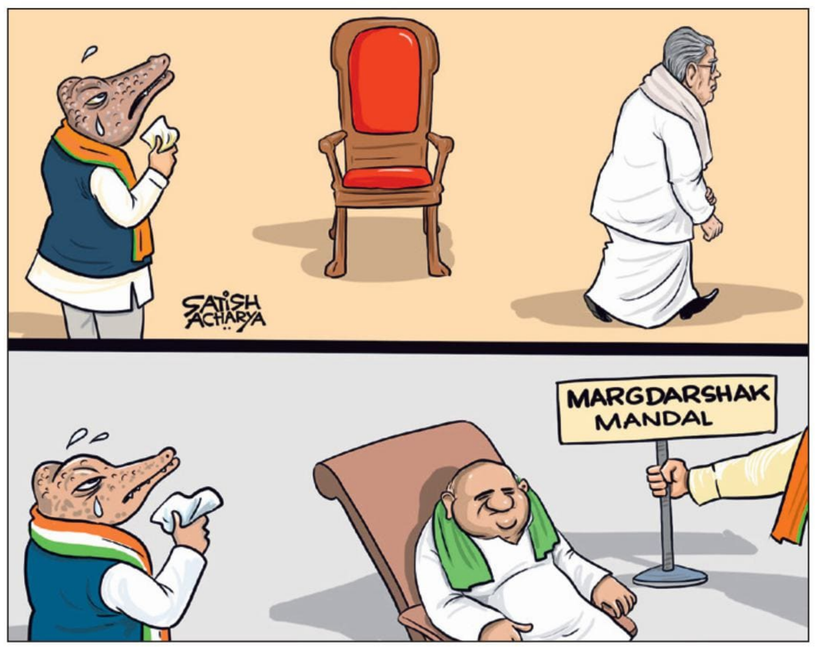
Modi has surpassed the record of Nehru, who first took oath as an elected Prime Minister on 13th May 1952 and served until 27th May 1964. Nehru's tenure as PM amounted to 4,398 days.

From 26th May 2014 to 10th June 2026, PM Modi's continuous tenure is now 4,399 days, making him the longest-serving elected Prime Minister in India's history.

Row over denial of RS re-entry...

My bond with PM Modi is personal, not political: Ex-PM Deve Gowda

Mysuru, June 10 (BS)- Amid various speculations doing rounds, following the reported denial of renomination of former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda to Rajya Sabha (RS), whose tenure will end on June 25 this year, the JD(S) Supremo today sought to clear the air. Deve Gowda clarified that his relationship with NDA and Prime Minister Narendra Modi will continue to remain till he was alive.



Addressing media persons at the Party Office J.P. Bhavan in Bengaluru this morning, Deve Gowda, whose party is one of the alliance partners of NDA, asserted that "It's a personal rapport I share with Modi, not merely for any political gains, including one RS seat. It will continue even if I am not a member of any Constitutional body. I can call on Modi any time to discuss about the development of the State and the country and write to him on State-related issues. Besides, our bondage and our relationship will continue till Deve Gowda is alive."

Delhi visit

Recalling his recent visit to New Delhi on May 26 to release the book 'Apnapan' authored by Union Minister for Agriculture & Farmers Welfare and Rural Development Shivraj Singh Chouhan, at the insistence of Modi again, to do the honours, Deve Gowda went on to add that, if he was intending to seek a RS entry again, he would have met the party leaders there itself to convey his intention. However, soon after the event, he chose to return to Bengaluru, he added.

Bonding since 2014

"I have always endorsed Modi's leadership, the bonding that remains for the last 10 years, ever since Modi became the PM in 2014. The BJP had won 282 seats on its own and could have easily formed the Government, but chose to go along with the allies. Moreover, I have stood with Modi to see the country's all-round development. The country is plagued by several burning issues," he said.

Mincing no words, Deve Gowda said, "I don't see any another leader who can compete with Modi. I will support Modi not only for overall development of the country, but also his grandiose vision to make the country emerge as a trillion dollar economy. The defence and other sectors have witnessed exponential growth. In foreign countries too, Modi has been identified as a potential leader, earning a good opinion."

Welcomes HDK...

The former PM also welcomed the statement of his son and Union Minister for Heavy Industries and Steels H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK), over Rajya Sabha berth, who in his recent media briefing in Mandya had said, "There was nothing to bargain by having just 18 MLAs in the party."

Deve Gowda hinted at working for the cause of Janata Dal (Secular), a regional party, with Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) polls expected to be announced any time.

JD(S) Bengaluru City President Ramesh Gowda and other leaders were present at the press meet.

Discontent continues in State Cabinet over portfolio allocation

Bengaluru, June 10 (KMS& DM)- The week-long D.K. Shivakumar-led Congress Government is battling with simmering discontent among the Chief Minister's Cabinet colleagues, with many of them unhappy over allotment of portfolios.

After Minister for Major and Minor Irrigation Ramalinga Reddy openly revolted against his portfolio, Greater Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda has expressed his dissatisfaction over the portfolio, citing that key departments such as BDA and BMRDA have been taken away from him.

Byregowda is said to be particularly upset over being given a portfolio that is not to his liking, even though he had sought CM Shivakumar to allow him to continue with Revenue portfolio, which he held under the Siddaramaiah Government.

An upset Byregowda, who has not assumed office citing clarity on the scope of the portfolio, flew to New Delhi yesterday evening to meet the Congress top brass. He is said to have left to Delhi along with Shivajinagar MLA Rizwan Arshad and party leader Ravi Boseraju, son of former Minister N.S. Boseraju, it is learnt.

CM, Dy.CM leave for Delhi

Meanwhile, it is learnt that CM Shivakumar left for Delhi this morning to take part in the NITI Aayog meeting to be held tomorrow. He is scheduled to meet Sonia Gandhi and other top leaders of AICC. He is also likely to discuss the rumblings in his Cabinet and seek the intervention of the party High Command.

Public complaints on e-Khata

Lokayukta scans records at MCC Zonal Offices

Mysuru, June 10 (PM&BCT)- In the wake of hundreds of public complaints alleging delays in the issuance of e-Khata documents and various permits, Lokayukta Police yesterday conducted a surprise inspection at the Mysuru City Corporation's (MCC) Zonal Offices, scrutinising property records and registers as part of an investigation into the alleged irregularities in property documentation and issuance.

The action follows complaints that officials were demanding bribes from property owners to issue e-Khata documents and complete related procedures.

Acting on these allegations, Lokayukta officials had in July last year raided multiple civic offices, including MCC Zones 2, 3, 7, 8 and 9, besides the Town Panchayat offices in Srirampura, Bogadi and Rammanahalli, and seized several records for examination.

During last evening's inspection at the Zone-2 office in Jayanagar, Lokayukta Dy.SP H.M. Shailendra and team reviewed files and registers related to e-Khata applications and various permits.

They also gathered information from staff and officials to assess whether pending applications were being processed transparently and in accordance with rules.

Questions on file clearance, delays

Lokayukta officers examined registers, files and other documents and sought explanations from officials regarding long-pending cases. Complaints of delays in clearing files at MCC Zonal offices and Local Bodies have continued to surface, prompting the latest review.

Officials said, files considered suspicious during the earlier raids remain under close watch. Staff were instructed to report any irregularities immediately and were warned against withholding information.

The inspection lasted from 3 pm to 8 pm, during which officers carried out an extensive review of records. Similar inspections would be conducted in other offices in the coming days to ensure greater transparency and accountability in property record management.

Inspection, not raid: SP

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Lokayukta Superintendent of Police T.J. Udesh clarified that the exercise was a follow-up inspection and not a raid.

"We had raided this office about seven to eight months ago after receiving complaints of irregularities in property documentation and permit issuance. The purpose of today's inspection was to verify whether the work is now being handled transparently," he said.

Udesh said, no fresh complaints had been received, but the team wanted to ensure that files found pending during the earlier raid had been disposed of. "We are preparing a report on the inspection, which will be submitted to the Lokayukta," he added.

Mysuru, June 10 (KS)- A 90-year-old man has appealed to the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner (DC) seeking justice, alleging that his brother sold the family's agricultural land without informing other family members and denied him his rightful share.

The complainant, M. Siddalingaiah, son of late Marigowda and a resident of Kurubarahalli, has alleged that 6.17 acres of agricultural land in Survey Nos. 112, 114 and 116 at Nadanahalli village in Kasaba hobli of Mysuru taluk were sold without the knowledge or consent of the family.

In his complaint, Siddalingaiah stated that the land had been leased to one Abdul Rehman alias Ameer Jan Saheb by his brothers Siddaiah, Siddegowda and Huchchiah when he was a minor.

He further said that Siddaiah and Siddegowda later passed away due to age-related ailments. However, Huchchiah allegedly failed to reclaim the leased land and instead sold it without informing other family members.

Siddalingaiah has alleged that neither was the sale brought to the notice of the family nor was he given his share of the property. Pointing out that he is a senior citizen aged 90 years, Siddalingaiah has urged the DC to intervene and ensure justice for him and his family members.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By Dr. R. Balasubramaniam

The Great Sleep Conspiracy

There is something deeply unfair about the universe and I have spent considerable time — mostly between two and four in the morning — thinking about it.

The young, bless their well-rested hearts, cannot wake up. The old, curse their hyperactive nervous systems, cannot sleep. Somewhere in this arrangement there is a divine joke and I suspect the joke is entirely on me.

Let me explain the situation as I understand it.

My younger friends and colleagues live in a state of perpetual warfare with their alarm clocks. The battlefield is the bedroom at six in the morning, the combatants are a sleepy human being and a smartphone set to the most aggressively cheerful ringtone known to civilisation and the outcome is never really in doubt. The smartphone announces its intentions. The human being reaches out with the slow, purposeful grace of a sloth who has given the matter serious philosophical consideration and locates the snooze button. Peace descends. Nine minutes later, hostilities resume. This cycle repeats itself until someone in the household — usually a parent or the smell of coffee — intervenes decisively.

The snooze button, I have come to believe, is the single greatest invention of the modern age. Greater than the wheel. Greater than penicillin. The wheel merely moved civilisation forward. The snooze button allows civilisation to sleep for nine more minutes before deciding whether it wants to move forward at all.

I, on the other hand, have no such luxury.

I go to bed at what I consider a perfectly reasonable hour, having read everything that science, medicine, philosophy and a worrying number of Instagram reels have to say about the importance of sleep. I know about circadian rhythms. I know about cortisol and melatonin and sleep pressure and the glymphatic system, which apparently cleans the brain during deep sleep, which is excellent news for everyone whose brain is actually getting some.

I know that seven to nine hours of sleep is recommended for adults, that sleep deprivation is linked to seventeen different categories of catastrophe and that one should avoid screens, caffeine, heavy meals and existential worry in the two hours before bedtime.

I follow all of this with the conscientiousness of a student preparing for a very important examination. And then I lie in the dark and remain entirely, luminously, magnificently awake.

My brain, freed from the obligations of the day, decides that this is precisely the moment to revisit every conversation I have had since 1987, reconsider several decisions I made in the previous decade and compile a comprehensive list of things I forgot to do. It does this with tremendous efficiency and absolutely no prompting. I have not asked for this service. I do not find it useful. My brain provides it anyway, at no additional charge.

By three in the morning, I have mentally reorganised several government departments, composed at least one strongly worded letter I will never send and arrived at the firm conclusion that the universe is run by a committee.

Then, somewhere around the time that any sensible person would be thinking about tea, I fall into the deep, generous, entirely inconvenient sleep that I have been waiting for all night. And my alarm, which I have set with great optimism the previous evening, goes off.

I should say that I do not trust my alarm. This is a separate problem. I set it, I confirm it, I check it twice and then I spend a portion of the night wondering if I have set it correctly, whether it will actually ring and whether the phone might have silently decided to update itself and restart at a crucial moment. The young do not worry about their alarms. They are already asleep when the alarm is set and asleep when it rings and sometimes asleep while it is ringing. I, meanwhile, am a one-man alarm-monitoring committee, awake and vigilant, which rather defeats the purpose of the alarm in the first place.

The scientists and their journals will tell me this is all about sleep hygiene and I do not disagree. But I have begun to suspect that we have turned sleep into another competitive sport, another item on the wellness checklist, another thing to optimise and quantify and discuss at length in seminars and podcasts and social media threads and that in doing so we have missed something rather important.

Our own civilisation knew it. Ayurveda knew it. The Gita speaks of it in language that is simultaneously simple and unarguable. The principle is this — moderation in all things. Not just in food, though that too. Not just in exercise or leisure or the time we spend staring at glowing rectangles, though certainly those as well. Moderation in worry. Moderation in stimulation. Moderation in the relentless, exhausting project of being productive every waking hour and then expecting the body to simply switch off on command like a well-behaved appliance.

The body is not an appliance. It is a living system that reflects, with remarkable accuracy, exactly how we have treated it during the sixteen hours before we asked it to sleep.

Feed it moderately. Move it joyfully. Rest it from screens and noise and the endless consumption of other people's opinions. Worry a little less about whether you are worrying the right amount. The body, given half a chance and a little genuine quietness, generally knows what to do.

Even mine. On a good night.

SP flags off 'Quit Tobacco, Save the Future' Campaign

Mysuru, June 10- Stressing the urgent need to protect young people from the growing menace of tobacco addiction, Mysuru Superintendent of Police (SP) Mallikarjun Baladandi said the 'Tambaku Bittaku' (Quit Tobacco) campaign is delivering a powerful message on the dangers of tobacco consumption and promoting healthier lifestyles among the public.

Speaking at the World No Tobacco Day programme recently organised by Bharath Hospital and Institute of Oncology (BHIO) and Red FM, SP Baladandi flagged off a specially designed awareness vehicle that will travel to corporate offices, educational institutions and public places across Mysuru district to educate people about the harmful effects of tobacco use.

Lauding the initiative, he observed that an increasing number of youngsters are falling prey to tobacco addiction, placing their health, education and future at serious risk.

The SP emphasised that tobacco addiction not only affects physical health but also disrupts family harmony, personal well-being and financial stability.

Despite stringent enforcement under the Cigarettes and Other Tobacco Products Act (COTPA) and sustained awareness efforts by Health Department, tobacco consumption among students and young adults remains a major challenge, he rued.

Dr. Y.S. Madhavi, Chief Radiation Oncologist and Medical Superintendent of BHIO, highlighted that according to Global Adult Tobacco Survey, one in four Indians consumes tobacco in either smoking or smokeless forms.

Referring to this year's World No Tobacco Day theme, "Unmasking the Appeal," she expressed concern that the average age of tobacco initiation is just 15 years and warned of its devastating health consequences, including oral cancer.

Chief Medical Oncologist Dr. C.B. Avinash said passive smokers are equally vulnerable to harmful effects of tobacco smoke and urged smokers not only to quit but also to encourage others to give up the habit.

WORD OF THE DAY

Accoutrement

Pronunciation: uh-KOO-truh-munt (noun).
Meaning: An accoutrement is a piece of clothing or equipment that is used in a particular place or for a particular activity. In military contexts, accoutrement refers specifically to a soldier's outfit. The word can also refer to an identifying and often superficial characteristic or device. Accoutrement in any of its uses is often pluralised.
Origin: Accoutrement and its rarer relative accoutre, a verb meaning "to provide with equipment or furnishings" or "to outfit," have been appearing in English texts since the 16th century. Today both words have variant spellings — accouterment and accouter, respectively. The pair's French ancestor, accoutrer, descends from an Old French word meaning "to put in place" and may ultimately trace back to the Latin word consuere, meaning "to sew together." Some etymological stitching is visible in another English word: couture, a word referring to the business of making fashionable clothes, as well as to the clothes themselves, is a direct French borrowing that ultimately descends from consuere.
Example: "From the spectacularly colourful Parade of Flags ... to the customary dress and cultural accoutrements of the nations, we see just how rich, varied and wonderful are the backgrounds of these students who have travelled far to study among us." – The Commercial Dispatch (Columbus, Mississippi), 14 Apr. 2026.

THE ODD WORD

Acaudate

Tailless.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Joshing me

Meaning: You use the expression 'Joshing me' to refer to someone joking with you.
Origin: The origin of the expression 'Joshing me' can be found in the late 1800s, when a young man named Josh Tatum noticed that nickels minted in 1883 were almost the same as five-dollar gold pieces in terms of size and design. He and a friend began to electroplate these coins and pass them off as five-dollar pieces, eventually amassing a small fortune before being caught.
Example: "Ken said he won the lottery, but as it turned out, he was just joshing me."
